

MANCHESTER SCHOOL OF ARCHITECTURE

HAVE WE KILLED THE PLANET?

AGENDA

This project intends to catalyse action through public education and embolden people to feel they can do and influence things for the better in the longterm. The aim is to design a workshop that informs those without a built environment background about its link to climate change, and creating public opportunities for overlap between those doing different things across Manchester - in climate and built environment spaces, and especially those outwith them.
