The project sits within the post industrial landscape of the Bolton & Bury Canal, addressing its neglected communities. We will listen to residents and propose a masterplan and detailed interventions. The short project will develop skills from digital design to hand modelling, these will be developed in engaging workshops. We will also develop skills around site surveying and community engagement. The project will be headed by Fatemeh Goudarzi, Malak Hussein, Zaiba Idakkad Mushtaq and Alexander Wallace, bringing a varied range of skills and experiences to the project. We are also working with the Manchester Bolton & Bury Canal Society and the wider community.
