

MANCHESTER SCHOOL OF ARCHITECTURE

Re:wilding Merseyway reimagines Stockport town centre as shared infrastructure for creativity, learning, and exchange. In partnership with Stockport World Building Society, it proposes a network of flexible public studios in and around Merseyway supporting craft, collaboration, making, and performance. Conceived as a living art school, the project connects artists, local businesses, and communities, encouraging cross-generational participation, strengthening civic identity, and shaping a vibrant town centre through everyday creativity.
