We are partnering with Growing Togetherness CIC, a Salford-based community organisation that fosters wellbeing, inclusion, and environmental sustainability through shared growing spaces at Seedley Pavilion Community Café and Gardens. They have invited students from Manchester School of Architecture to explore the site's future potential, focusing on water as a shared resource.

During our action weeks, we will research and design accessible, low-tech water storage and harvesting strategies for the gardens, culminating in a short virtual walkthrough and drawings that present a broader masterplan vision. Through this process, we will engage with users, test ideas, and examine how small environmental interventions can support stronger, more resilient communities.
